Citadel Media, Joe Scarborough and Mika Brzezinski
Partner in Development of New Program

NEW YORK (April 26, 2010) – Citadel Media today announced development plans for a new three-hour program to be hosted by Joe Scarborough and Mika Brzezinski. The new show will offer an expanded radio platform for the two popular media personalities. Scarborough and Brzezinski will be taking a brief hiatus from the current Joe Scarborough Show beginning today to focus on developing the new program.

“We look forward to Joe and Mika developing this new program, which we are confident will have a significant impact on Talk radio,” said Farid Suleman, Chairman of Citadel Broadcasting.

“Mika and I are extremely grateful for the opportunity given to us by Farid and all our friends at Citadel,” said Scarborough. “We’re especially pleased that Farid shares our vision of where Talk radio is going in the future and will be working with us to expand The Joe Scarborough Show into a three-hour program. We look forward to the debut of the new show and know our listeners will appreciate the focus and direction we’ll be taking.”

The Joe Scarborough Show has provided the same thought-provoking commentary and A-list guests from MSNBC’s Morning Joe to radio audiences. The new program will be designed to bring similar lively discussion to the table while exploring additional opportunities and increased time for guests and audience interaction alike.
